

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An architecture for creating a single image for a stack of switches. A plurality of the internetworking devices are provided in a stack configuration for interconnecting networks. Software is executed in each internetworking device such that the stack of internetworking devices appear as a single internetworking device to the interconnected networks.